But also health is good in Eindhoven. There are several hospitals in the region, with a very broad specialization.

Public facilities, such as electricity, gas and drinking water, are one of the best in the Netherlands, because of the good quality and because of every corner of the city is linked to the network of these public facilities.

In Eindhoven there are as well commercial and institutional buildings, like hotels, a large sports arena, convention centers. And office buildings and complexes, ideal for starting and experienced businessmen to set up business or to set up branching operations.
